FIVE RING FEVER: THE SOCHI GAMES AND CELEBRATION CAPITALISM

Sports as metaphor for human solidarity, or sports as vehicle for human greed?

Mega sporting events such as the Olympics are increasingly used to redevelop cities, displace populations, and quash internal dissent. Meanwhile, international governing bodies like the IOC and FIFA turn blind eyes to human rights violations by host countries. The Sochi Winter Olympics represent a prime example of this trend toward what Jules Boykoff calls “celebration capitalism.”

Join us as we bring together Turin Winter Olympian Samantha Retrosi, sports journalist Dave Zirin, and historian and former Olympic soccer player Jules Boykoff, to discuss the impact of mega sporting events and what we can do to ensure they speak to the dreams of billions of people, not to the billionaire dreams of a select, corrupt few.

NEW VIDEOS

21ST CENTURY MERCENARIES? THE RISE OF PMSCS

Private Military and Security Companies (PMSCs): hired guns, profiting from war and conflict escalation, accountable to no one. But our governments and the UN are relying on them more and more. In this video Lou Pingeot, Laura Raymond, and Pratap Chatterjee discuss what we can do about it.

FREEDOM '63 REMIXED: THE MOVEMENT AND THE MESSAGE

In part 3 of "Freedom '63 Remixed," hip hop artist Boots Riley (The Coup) talks with Dorothy Zellner about John Lewis' censored speech at the 1963 March on Washington and the implication of "co-opted" civil rights history against the radical legacy of the black freedom struggle.
